Program Resource Planning Process

College To Career 2021

1.1a Mission

The mission of the C2C Program is to create and promote Career and Technical Education opportunities that lead to gainful employment for students with intellectual disabilities and/or autism in postsecondary education.

1.1b Mission Alignment

The College to Career Program (C2C) aligns with the College's Mission by focusing on all aspects of learning. Creativity, aesthetic, emotional and social development are supported through the requirement to participate in, as well as create and implement, campus and community activities; intellectual through the involvement in academic courses; and emotional through the participation in the DRD370 series of Student Life courses which support the whole learner. The C2C Program focuses on preparing students for the workforce through deciding on a career path (with the support of staff expertise, career aptitude tests, and curriculum), students completing Career Technical Education courses and learning foundation skills for the workplace, and helping students find and maintain employment in the community. The program promotes lifelong learning by discussing options for students to continue attending SRJC after graduation from the program.

1.1c Description

The College to Career Program is a Cooperative Contract Program with the California Department of Rehabilitation (DOR) designed to provide Career and Technical Education support and training for students with intellectual disabilities. Originally, SRJC was one of five community colleges in the state chosen to receive funding to pilot a four year College to Career Program (C2C). After the first cycle of funding expired in June 2015, SRJC secured funding for two additional 3 year cycle through the 2022/23. The program regular contract programs through the DOR.

C2C is designed to serve between 60 and 90 students per year in a three year cycle, in three cohorts of 20-30. The program has three cohorts of students in the academic portion, and individuals from the first 2 cohorts of students either working successfully, or in the job development phase of the program.

The goal of the program is to provide career exploration opportunities, soft skills curriculum, Career and Technical Education and work experience culminating in paid, competitive employment at the end of the program.

The College to Career Program will only be offered on the Santa Rosa campus at this time. However, students enrolled in the C2C Program can take CE courses at any campus or site.

1.1d Hours of Office Operation and Service by Location

Normal hours of operation for the C2C Program are 8am-4pm, Monday through Thursday. During these hours, the C2C Coordinator, Job Developer, and Intake Facilitator are available.

The C2C Vocational Skills Coach is available Monday-Thursday, 9am-2:30pm.

At this time, during remote learning, faculty and staff attempt to meet the needs of the C2C students at varying times throughout the course of the week. The team in C2C has done well in supporting the needs of the students in this program and we have consistently exceeded expectations statewide, even during the global pandemic.

1.2 Program/Unit Context and Environmental Scan

The C2C Program provides an extremely high level of service to each participating student with a very limited staff. Students receive academic advising, curriculum and courses, social/soft skills training (through curriculum and within the daily C2C lab milieu), disability accommodations, support in communicating with instructors, direct support in the classroom, tutoring, support with planning and organization, job development services, career exploration services, and on the job support.

In November 2013 the C2C Program was approved as a Comprehensive Transition Program (CTP) through the Higher Education Opportunities Act (HEOA), allowing students without high school diplomas to receive federal financial aid.

Continual changes in Career Education demands and certificates, as well as economic and employment trends, affect advising by C2C staff and career paths chosen by C2C students. Employer education regarding employment of individuals with disabilities is a continuing charge of the C2C Program. The shift in the workforce to focus heavily on soft skills as well as hard skills has impacted the development of unique curriculum to guide students to succeed in the workplace. C2C has added a local small business owner to our Advisory Board to represent the perspective of potential employers in the community. This addition has been essential to our creation and distribution of marketing and informational materials, as well as how we support employers who hire C2C students.

2.1a Budget Needs

The College to Career Program (C2C) operates under a $290,000 all inclusive budget annually. This budget is funded through the California Department of Rehabilitation (CA DOR). This budget includes 15% going directly to the college General Fund for Indirect Funds (building operation and maintenance, utilities, etc.).

3.1 Develop Financial Resources

3.2 Serve our Diverse Communities

All recent recruitments for classified positions have included a stated preferred skill of Spanish/English bilingual, bi-cultural ability. Advertising for positions are listed in Latino publications. Application screening includes a separate rating for adequacy of the diversity statement and a statement regarding experience working with individuals with disabilities to prioritize candidates with demonstrated sensitivity to the diverse community we serve.

Selected materials have been published in Spanish as part of the Department's community outreach efforts.

Program staff meet with students individually and in groups to assess and counsel on career education, career choices, and education paths that fit students' disabilities, interests, abilities, aptitudes, and other considerations.

3.3 Cultivate a Healthy Organization

It has been the focus of the institution over the past two years to offer Professional Development Day activities to classified staff and for the workshops offered as part of these days to reflect the professional learning needs classified staff as well as faculty. Regular in-service training in disability specific topics are provided for department staff. Staff are supported with release time to attend District sponsored staff development trainings and activities on a regular basis. Staff are encouraged to participate in these activities on a regular basis. Staff are granted release time to enroll in and complete courses through SRJC related to their job descriptions. Staff are encouraged to participate in other districtwide initiatives, such as the strategic plan, Student Equity Planning, or Student Success Act implementation.

3.4 Safety and Emergency Preparedness

The College to Career program is incorporated into the Disability Resources Department Safety plan. All employees of C2C have attended the trainings provided by the District and by the department during Professional Development Activities day.

3.5 Establish a Culture of Sustainability

The C2C Program has reduced its paper copy production and to the greatest extent possible at this time, has converted to electronic records. The Chancellor's Office still requires a paper student file with specific documents with ink signatures.

The C2C Program uses iPads and web-based cloud applications to share documents with students for instruction. Students may submit assignments electronically.

Students within the program are encouraged to use a planner to keep track of appointments and assignments. Many students have switched to effectively using electronic planners on their mobile devices, reducing the need for paper planners.

Economically, the C2C Program continues to secure the possibility of future funding through the fulfillment of Department of Rehabilitation contract goals: providing delineated services effectively and obtaining integrated, competitive employment for students within the community.

4.1a Course Student Learning Outcomes Assessment

4.1a. DRD Course Student Learning Outcomes

The Disability Resources Department participates in a regular cycle of assessment of its course offerings. All DRD course assessment results, including methods, analysis and changes have been posted on SharePoint. Additionally, DRD faculty have shared their reflections on their student learning assessments at department meetings.

4.1b Program Student Learning Outcomes Assessment
