

Santa Rosa Junior College

Program Resource Planning Process

Social Science 2022

1.1a Mission

Mission of the Social Sciences Department:

To provide students with an introduction to History, Economics, and Political Science as preparation for the Associate of Arts Degree, university transfer, and/or personal enrichment. To inspire intellectual curiosity in an atmosphere of academic freedom. To promote an awareness of and sensitivity to diversity in the local, national, and global community. To introduce students to the challenges, opportunities, and responsibilities of an engaged citizenry through the studies of Economics, History, and Political Science.

1.1b Mission Alignment

In line with Santa Rosa Junior College's Strategic Plan, the Social Science Department supports student success and fosters learning and academic excellence in the following ways:

Mission #1 Student Learning

All three Social Science disciplines (Economics, History, and Political Science) have AA degree majors approved by the Chancellor's Office. The department will continue to work with other departments, the curriculum committee, and our UC/CSU colleagues to guarantee a wide range of courses from which students may choose that satisfy the GE pattern for the AA degree, and the transfer requirements for the UC/CSU systems. In addition to the core introductory courses, the department offers Comparative Government, International Relations, World History, History of Latin America, Women's History, Race, Ethnicity and Gender in American Culture, and History of the Modern Middle East.

In all of our courses critical thinking is emphasized.

Mission # 3 Vitality/Equality/Stewardship

Our Department offers two courses that promote a culture of sustainability. These courses are Environmental Economics and Environmental Politics and Policy. Environmental stewardship is also covered in our International Politics Course.

Mission # 5 Civic Engagement

Civil Civic Engagement is of primary importance to our department. Our classes are central to students understanding American Institutions and the U.S. Constitution. These topics are covered in our U.S. History survey courses and our American Government course. In many of our classes we talk about the role of an active citizenry in order to influence public policy. These issues are also addressed in classes covering political theory, comparative politics, and international relations. This is an essential component of promoting good citizenry.

In conclusion: the mission of the Department supports the mission of the District. Our primary goal is to provide outstanding lower division college level courses.

1.1c Description

The Social Sciences Department includes the disciplines of Economics, History, and Political Science.

The department regularly sponsors, and faculty regularly participate in programs for the full college community. These have included, but are not limited to:

Arts and Lectures Presentations

PDA Presentations

We the Future: A Social Justice Conference

The Living New Deal (Franklin Roosevelt's 75th Inauguration Anniversary)

A Public Discussion on Immigration

The department regularly sponsors Women's History Month lectures and presentations and facilitates student participation in the Model Arab League.

1.1d Hours of Office Operation and Service by Location

All department faculty are served by the Emeritus Hall Service Center – Santa Rosa Campus. Its hours of operation are M-F 7:30AM – 4:30PM.

The Service Center is staffed by one full-time and one part-time administrative assistant.

1.2 Program/Unit Context and Environmental Scan

The Social Sciences Department offers core transfer courses necessary to complete majors in Economics, History, and Political Science. The department's offerings fulfill Areas 3 and 4 of the Intersegmental General Education Transfer Curriculum, and the CSU graduation requirements for U.S. History, Constitution and American Ideals, Area C, and Area D. Currently we are applying to have U.S. History courses (Hist 17.1, 17.2, 18.1, and 18.2) also fulfill Area C for CSU General Education requirements.

Transfer Model Curriculum majors for CSU transfer students have been completed and approved for History, Political Science, and Economics.

Our Course Outlines of Record for the core history survey courses (1.1, 1.2, 4.1, 4.2, 8.1, 8.2, 17.1, 17.2, 18.1, & 18.2) have been updated and approved by the UC Office of the President for explicit in and out of class writing, and use of primary sources.

The Social Sciences remain at the heart of a liberal arts education essential to an informed citizenry. Our offerings emphasize the critical thinking and writing necessary for current and future student success.

Because our courses are an integral part of the Behavioral and Social Science Major for CSU/UC transfer, our enrollments and productivity remain strong and will for the foreseeable future.

As the overall class schedule increases, the demand for Social Science courses will remain strong in all three disciplines. Maintaining student access to key transfer courses is a critical component of Strategic Planning.

2.3c Faculty Within Retirement Range

We currently have eight regular Social Science faculty, three are at retirement age

A FT Political Scientist is retiring in May of 2022, so this leaves 30 Political Science sections with only 2.5 FT Political Scientists. This means that only 40% of our sections are being taught by FT Instructors. This is well below the state mandate of 75% of course be taught by tenured faculty. We desperately need this position filled and an additional Political Scientists to serve our students. With 4 FT Political Scientists, we would have 69% of our courses taught by FT Instructors. We will be requesting replacement faculty when the faculty staffing request process begins in the fall.

2.3d Analysis of Faculty Staffing Needs and Rationale to Support Requests

The Social Sciences Department is requesting one Political Science instructor for the Santa Rosa campus. This position is ranked # 1 in our department PRPP and is a replacement for retiring faculty and fills a need for subject matter expertise. Currently, our department is facing upcoming retirements within the next 3 years in all three disciplines, History, Economics, and Political Science, and will need to hire full-time faculty for both replacement and growth. Political Science has a solid foundation composed 3.5 FT Political Science positions, three in the Santa Rosa campus and a half full-time faculty on the Petaluma campus (hybrid History/Pol Sci position) which allows for only 17 of our 27 Political Science sections to be taught by full-time faculty. This position would allow our department to maintain our current standards and to continue providing our students with excellent courses taught by highly qualified faculty who are experts in their field. The faculty who fills this position would only be teaching for credit, degree, and transferable courses. This new addition to our department will also be integral in the development of appropriate new courses to serve the needs of our diverse student body.

In the past three years, Political Science has awarded 78 degrees, (Political Science ADT), an average of 26 degrees a year. Political Science courses are also components of the Social and Behavioral Sciences Major, which consistently is the largest AA degree awarded by SRJC with a three-year average of 445 degrees awarded. In addition, courses in this discipline are a requirement for CSU/UC and most local majors. All of our Political Science courses are UC/CSU transferable; they fulfill Area D, E, and G for the College's GE requirements. Along with History, only Political Science courses fulfill Area F, the American Institutions Requirement. Similarly for CSU, our Political Science courses fulfill both Area C2 and Area D for their General Education Breadth Requirements. Again, along with History, only Political Science courses fulfill CSU's Graduation Requirement in US History, Constitution, and American Ideals. Political Science courses also fulfill IGETC Area 4 requirements.

The full-time Political Science instructor is necessary to meet the FTES demand and share the load of courses offered to our students. Of the full-time Political Science instructors, one has confirmed their intent to retire in May of 2022, while another will probably be retiring within the next 3 years. Political Science instructors regularly teach large-sized classes of at least 45 students each, and with a FT/PT ratio of 39/61 % nowhere near the ideal 75/25 %, the department requires three full-time Political Science instructors in Santa Rosa and one in Petaluma to meet the needs of our students. The department currently has 8 adjuncts in the pool with assignment rights. All but one is assigned to Santa Rosa but all teach on both campuses. Currently 5 of the adjunct faculty are within retirement age and are reducing their load and cutting back. The majority of our Adjuncts have a 60% established load and carry a 40% load every semester and some are now dropping below that. The department has added to the pool annually for the last three years and will add again this semester. While there is not a shortage of adjunct applicants, our most recent full-time hire came from our adjunct pool. The vast majority of Political Science classes, both online and face-to-face, fill before open enrollment ends with key classes closing before open enrollment begins. We regularly teach 1,200+ students in 27-30 Political Science sections every semester.

The ADT for Political Science has a good degree completion rate, average of 26 per year. Completion rates will be impacted with the retirement of a full-time faculty member who teaches International Relations and Political Theory, with the hire of a full-time replacement, these classes can remain on the rotation allowing for degree completion in a timely fashion. Enrollment in the discipline has remained stable with decline in enrollment in line with schedule reductions. This major meets the standards for vitality and should continue to be relevant and grow.

Our Social Sciences Department needs to expand the ability to offer courses that resonate with our BIPOC students to help meet current demand. Student demand for diverse and knowledgeable faculty is steady and growing for all Political Science courses since more and more high school students are taking classes at our college to fulfill their graduation requirements. With the addition of a full-time Political Science instructor the department will round out the faculty and establish a more robust DEIA foundation, taking an important step towards building a healthier and more inclusive community.

The department currently has three and a half full-time Political Science instructors and maintaining this number will allow SRJC to continue to foster our diverse community of students and promote informed participation in our local, state, and national politics. Our Political Science instructors teach vital courses in political theory, international relations, and environmental policy and are working to develop and revitalize courses that focus on the political status of historically underrepresented communities. Filling this position would enhance our department's ability to offer additional culturally responsive courses in Political Science.

Resources exist in the department to support a replacement for a retiring faculty member and in the district for online curriculum development. With the growing diversity of our community and campus, Political Science faculty are needed to teach and develop new courses that resonate with their cultural experiences. Similarly, our courses are part of the Umoja, Lanzamiento, and other learning communities. Courses offered daily from 7:30 am to 10:00 pm and on Fridays and Saturdays as well as a robust online program. Our courses support the College's goals about student success, academic excellence, serving diverse communities, and promoting civic engagement.

Understanding how our government was built by the creators of our Constitution, will help our students better understand the current political climate and divisions in our state and our country. A strong foundation in Political Science will provide our students with the necessary tools to make informed decisions at the ballot box and in the community. The critical thinking skills they acquire in our Poli Sci courses, will prepare them to be active and involved members of the community.

2.3e Faculty Staffing Requests

Rank	Location	SP	M	Discipline	SLO Assessment Rationale
0001	Santa Rosa	01	01	Political Science	Currently there are 3 FT faculty in Political Science, one is retiring in May 2022.. Enrollments are strong, classes are offered online, hybrid, and face to face. Class size is large - 45 with a 1 wait. This is a highly productive area as it fulfills the American Government requirement for AA's and transfer. We need 4 FT Political Scientists. Currently, the Political Science SLO's are up to date for the core classes: PS 1, 18, 25 are current.

2.4b Rationale for Instructional and Non-Instructional Equipment, Technology, and Software

The projectors in both 1697 and 1699 seem to need some maintenance. The projection is very hard to see unless the lights are off in the room. Lecturing in the dark is not ideal, nor is it easy for students to take notes in the dark.

0003	Santa Rosa	04	07	Urgent	Emeritus	1st Floor Restroom	$5,000.00	General upgrade and deep clean

2.5b Analysis of Existing Facilities

All Social Science classrooms now have document cameras which is great, but the computers in our classrooms do run slow at times. It would be great if these could be updated regularly.

The classrooms, however, are seriously impacted by a general excess of furniture. It would be helpful to see if we need all the DRD furniture in our rooms every semester.

Our Emeritus classrooms are in desperate need of a good cleaning.

The lights in 1697 are very temperamental. We regularly need to turn off the lights to use the projector (an early stated problem) and when we turn on the lights, often they don't turn back on for 5-10 minutes.

3.1 Develop Financial Resources

Funding to increase and support the Model Arab League as it continues to grow.

3.2 Serve our Diverse Communities

Our courses reflect the diversity of our students. Our courses cover a wide array of curriculum, focusing on people and societies from around the world. Our instructors are qualified to teach these classes.

The Social Sciences Department has continued to develop curriculum sensitive to the need for global and intercultural awareness.

This includes:

Chicano/Latino Studies major

History of the Modern Middle East

Expansion of History 21, Race, Ethnicity & Gender sections

Completion of the History Transfer Model Curriculum

All applicants for regular and adjunct positions are required to describe in writing their "demonstrated experience in understanding and being sensitive to the diverse academic, socioeconomic, cultural, disability and ethnic backgrounds of community college students and staff". Points are awarded based on the quality of each applicant's response. This is followed up, face to face, with those candidates chosen for interviews.

In addition to local area advertising when travel funds are available members of each discipline attend conferences that might attract potential faculty from around the country. Job announcements are placed in professional journals, e.g., American Historical Review, Job Openings for Economists (JOE).

Our current faculty represent diverse ethnic, gender, academic and professional backgrounds to offer our students a broad range of perspectives and expertise.

3.3 Cultivate a Healthy Organization

Not Applicable

3.4 Safety and Emergency Preparedness

Lori Derum is our Safety Chief. While we have recently had our office locks replaced, our classrooms still cannot be locked from the inside.

3.5 Establish a Culture of Sustainability

All written communication between chair, faculty and staff is via email.

Most faculty, regular and adjunct use Canvas in order to send essential information to students, i.e. syllabi, assignments, and important announcements.

Copy costs for Social Science have decreased dramatically thanks to far fewer handouts. Printing costs are now mostly associated with exams.

Recycle bins are conveniently placed in the service center for use by all faculty and staff.

4.1a Course Student Learning Outcomes Assessment

All active Social Science courses have approved Student Learning Outcomes and as of Fall 2018, 74% of our course SLO's have been assessed.

We have a plan in place to have all of SLOs for all of our courses assessed over this current 6 year cycle.

All 3 disciplines have completed their SLO major map.

4.1b Program Student Learning Outcomes Assessment

Student Learning Outcomes have been approved for the Economics, History, Political Science, and Chicano/Latino Studies majors. Social Sciences has adopted the "bottom up" approach to program assessment.

Courses within the majors will be assessed as follows:

5.1 Effective Class Schedule: Course Offerings, Times, Locations, and Delivery Modes (annual)

The Social Science Department offers at least one course from each discipline beginning at 7:30AM and ending at 9:00 or 10:00PM M – TH. Although courses are most heavily offered during the prime-time hours (9:00AM – 3:00PM), our department also offers late afternoon and evening sections in all disciplines. We have been particularly successful adding late afternoon, late start classes that attract many dual enrollment high school students. Social Science has regularly participated in the Weekend College in History and Political Science. Online and hybrid courses are now offered in all three disciplines.

5.8 Curriculum Offered Within Reasonable Time Frame

LAST PRPP COMMENTS:

All Social Science core courses required for the Economics, History, and Political Science Majors are offered Fall and Spring semesters. Applicable courses from other disciplines are offered at least once a year. Courses are offered both day and evening.

The following courses are offered on a Fall/Spring rotation:

Fall 2017	Spring 2018
Hist 8.1	8.2
Hist 26	5
	20
	22
	30
	33
Pols2	18
	25
Social Sci	12

All other Social Science courses are offered both Fall and Spring semesters.

5.9a Curriculum Responsiveness

All Social Science courses are reviewed on a six year cycle and attention is paid to its attention to gender, global perspectives, and American cultural diversity.

Our curriculum has become increasingly varied with regular offerings of World History, the updating of History of Latin America, the development of a Chicano and Latino Studies major, and the addition of History 5, History of the Modern Middle East.

Despite current budget cuts and the consequent schedule reduction, we continue to offer at least 2 sections of Women's History per semester while maintaining 10 to 12 sections of History 21, Race, Ethnicity and Gender in American Culture.

Global and environmental issues are addressed in Introduction to Comparative Government (Political Science 2), Introduction to Economics and the Environment (Economics 12), International Economics (Econ 30), and Environmental Policy and Politics (Social Science 12).

5.10 Alignment with Transfer Institutions (Transfer Majors ONLY)

The Economics, History and Political Science Majors align with lower division required courses at the following institutions.

5.11b Academic Standards

Periodically in department meetings we engage in discussions regarding course assignments, testing methods, and grading.

One of the department's current concerns is ensuring that Course Outlines of Record reflect a substantial amount of writing (both in and out of class) consistent with what the CSU/UC systems are calling for. Our revised outlines are explicit in requiring critical thinking and writing.

6.2b PRPP Editor Feedback - Optional

The Social Science department under the leadership of Chair Anne Donegan has made significant contributions in productivity and in streamlining its course offerings and rotations to maximize scheduling for students. The DSS effectively schedules classes throughout the day, in face to face, hybrid and online platforms. They make full use of classrooms in Emeritus and with class sizes ranging from 35 - 50, are highly productive. Thank you Anne for your leadership!
